Effective Date: Updated January 1, 2022

The following advertising Terms and Conditions of Gäbl Media Group, Inc. ("Terms"), together with the applicable Insertion Order ("Order"), are an agreement ("Agreement") between the Customer identified on the Order ("Customer") and Gäbl Media Group, Inc. (GM). These full Terms and Conditions can also be found online at <https://gablmmedia.com/tc>. No conflicting or additional terms appearing on contracts, orders or copy instructions will be binding on GM. "Customer" includes any advertising agency utilized by an advertiser or Customer client; all obligations, warranties, and liabilities of Customer are joint and several with its agency.

General Terms and Provisions

Invoicing and Payment: Payment terms for all Gäbl Media Group, Inc. are due prepaid for services in full, unless separate arrangements have been made with GM to receive payment at Net 30 days from invoice date. GM will invoice Customer unless Customer requires GM to bill its agency directly.

GM may charge a 1.5% per month interest fee on all invoices that are over 30 days in arrears. Customer will reimburse GM for the cost of any collection or attorney fees utilized by GM to collect unpaid amounts. Customers more than 60 days in arrears on any GM invoice must pay all outstanding invoices before any current or future insertions will be accepted. If Customer is an agency, both agency and principal Customer are jointly and severally liable for all payments owed. GM reserves the right to notify principal Customer regarding any overdue and unpaid invoices.

If contract includes native and/or content development services, payment terms for such services are due 50% upon signature and 50% upon the earlier of product launch or (2) months after signing.

Short Rates, Discounts, Credits and Rebates: Negotiated discounts are available only during the period for which they are earned. Agreements for advertising frequency or multi-platform discounts are conditioned on the agreed amount of advertising being delivered within the specified period, and all invoices being timely paid. If Customer cancels any portion of the order, or fails to have paid for the contracted amount of advertisements or sponsorships, the rate discount will be retroactively nullified and a short rate will apply. The short rate will be calculated at the difference between the rate charged on the contracted program and the higher rate based on the open published rates for the contracted advertising. Any value-added components executed by GM in reliance of advertising that is cancelled will be paid for by Customer at the published open rates for those delivered ad elements. Credits or rebates will only be earned if all advertising is paid for by the due date. Unused advertising credits will expire six months after the end of the period in which they were earned.

Cancellations and Revisions: Except for cancellations made in congruence with to the terms of this Agreement, Customer is fully responsible for all products or services purchased pursuant to this Agreement.

Advertising Discretion: GM may reject or cancel any advertising at any time, for any reason.

Errors: GM is not responsible for errors or omissions in any advertising materials provided to Customer for review in going live on site, in audio, or for Customer changes made after five days prior to launch date for any product.

GM's liability for errors made by GM shall be limited to a prorated credit based on the relative amount of ad inventory corresponding to the error, not to exceed the total amount paid to GM for the individual advertisement in question. GM shall have no liability unless GM's error or omission is brought to GM's attention within thirty (30) days after the advertisement is first launched in market. GM will have no liability due to force majeure events, nor will GM own liability for consequential, indirect, incidental, punitive, special or exemplary damages.

Warranties and Indemnity: The placement of any advertisement with GM constitutes a representation by the Customer that they are authorized to express the entire contents and subject matter.
